THE MONTANA BREWERS TRAIL MAP

COME FOR THE...

FISHING

Anglers from around the world come to Montana for our blue ribbon trout streams, and a day on the water isn't complete without your favorite Montana craft beer. It's no surprise many of Montana's breweries and beers take their names from fishing terms and our iconic rivers. The same rivers that support our beloved fish provide clean water for the best beer you'll find anywhere.

CAMPING

Montana's millions of acres of public lands, including state and national parks and recreation areas, provide a life-time's worth of camping opportunities. Just don't forget your growers, because who doesn't like to gather around the campfire with their favorite Montana craft beer?

SKIING

From destination resorts to mom and pop ski areas, Montana is home to excellent skiing and snowboarding opportunities... without the crowds. More freshies for us! Every great powder day deserves a little apres ski. With breweries located near most of the 14 ski areas across the state, a Montana craft beer is just down the slope.

WILDLIFE

Montana is the fourth largest state but is home to just over one million people. That leaves a lot of room under the Big Sky for wildlife. Two national parks, several wilderness areas and miles upon miles of forest lands and open space help to make this the Last Best Place. Love wildlife viewing, birdwatching or hunting? You've come to the right place. Love craft beer? You're in heaven.

STAY FOR THE BEER!

Enjoying the wonders of Montana includes visiting the many craft breweries that you can find along any route. With over 90 breweries in the state, Montana ranks third for breweries per capita. You will find some of their beer all across the state and region in taverns, restaurants and stores, while the smaller operations sell their beer solely from their taprooms. Big or small, Montana's breweries are welcoming more and more visitors from all over the world with open arms. This map is here to help you plan your journey wherever you're headed in the great state of Montana. Cheers!
